IV. Justification of data processing. Reservation requests and hotel reservations.

The Art. 6 Section. 1 lit. A DSGVO serves as the legal basis for data processing, where we obtain consent for a specific purpose.

If the processing of personal data is required to fulfil a contract of which you are a party, the processing is based on Art. 6 Section. 1 lit. B DSGVO. This is the case if you conclude a contract with Gondwana for a hotel reservation or for booking a travel service. The same applies to such processing operations that are necessary for the implementation of pre-contractual measures, eg. For inquiries about our hotels or services.

If Gondwana is subject to a legal obligation requiring the processing of personal data, such as the fulfilment of tax obligations, the processing is based on Art. 6 Section. 1 lit. C DSGVO.

In rare cases, the processing of personal data may be required to protect your vital interests. For example, if you were injured as a guest in one of our hotels or as a participant in our travels, your name, age, health insurance or other vital information would be passed on to a doctor, hospital or third party. Then the processing on Art. 6 Section. 1 lit. D DSGVO are based.

Ultimately, processing operations could be art. 6 Section. 1 lit. F DSGVO are based. This legal basis applies if processing is necessary to safeguard the legitimate interests of our company or a third party, provided your interests, fundamental rights and fundamental freedoms do not predominate. Such processing operations are particularly allowed to us because they have been specifically mentioned by the European legislator. In that regard, he considered that a legitimate interest could be accepted if you were a customer of ours (recital 47 sentence 2 DSGVO).

Authorized interests in the processing that are being pursued by the controller or a third party

Based the processing of personal data on Art. 6 Section. 1 lit. F DSGVO, we clarify that our legitimate interest is the performance of our business for the benefit of our employees and our shareholders.

Legal or contractual provisions for the provision of personal data; Necessity for the conclusion of the contract; Obligation of the data subject to provide the personal data; possible consequences of non-provision

We clarify that the provision of personal data is partly required by law (eg tax regulations) or can also result from contractual provisions (eg information about the contracting party). It may be necessary for you to conclude a contract that you provide us with personal data that must be processed by us.

For example, you may be required to provide us with personal information when Gondwana signs a contract with you for hotel reservation. Failure to provide your personal information would mean that the contract could not be concluded with you. Before you provide us with personal data, you can of course contact us. We clarify on a case-by-case basis whether the provision of the personal data is required by law or contract, or is required for the conclusion of the contract, whether there is an obligation to provide the personal data, and what would be the consequence of the non-provision of the personal data.
